LINGUISTIC ANTHROPOLOGY EXCHANGE

SANDRIZONA VII

CALL FOR ABSTRACTS  APRIL 19-20, 2014

Hosted by the Department of Anthropology - University of California San Diego

In an effort to nurture professional connections and scholarly exchange between graduate students interested in issues of linguistic anthropology at the University of California, San Diego and the University of Arizona, this is the seventh in what has been a productive series of meetings and workshops.

We invite research dealing with all aspects of language, including, but not limited to:

- Language and society
- Language socialization
- Politics, ideologies of language
- Language and identity
- Minority languages, multilingualism, and other languages in contact
- Gesture, Sign language, and other multimodal forms of communication
- Interdisciplinary connections

YOUR PROJECT  Research projects may be at any stage of completion, and be solo or joint projects. Polished presentations are not expected. Instead, we visualize this two-day exchange as an opportunity to talk through our ideas with a fresh, receptive audience of our peers and interested professors, and to receive and provide productive feedback. Each participant will have a total of 30 minutes to discuss their work. We will limit the number of presentations in order to give adequate attention to each project.

WHAT TO INCLUDE  We invite interested participants to submit (a) an abstract (250 words) describing their research project, and (b) a biographical/professional description (150 words). All submitted materials will be distributed at the event. However, those selected to present during the workshop will have their materials distributed to all participants prior to Sandrizona, in order to encourage a high level of participant feedback.

CONTACT  Please include your name, institutional affiliation, department, and email address. Housing with UCSD graduate students will be available for those graduate students visiting from U of A. U of A students, please submit your abstracts and biographies to Kery Miller (kmiller3@email.arizona.edu). UCSD students, please submit your materials to Aida Ribot (aribotbe@ucsd.edu).

All materials are due by 11:59 pm, Mar 09, 2014.
